The Legal Stuff

I fully understand the risks involved with SCUBA diving and will not hold the Whalers Dive Club Inc, it's Directors, Officers, or membership liable as a result of any personal injury or loss and/or damage of SCUBA equipment while participating in a The Whalers Dive Club sponsored event. While SCUBA diving is one of the "safest sports" it is still inherently risky. The possibility of death or injury as a result of air embolism, decompression sickness, sinus barotrauma, ruptured eardrums, hazardous marine life, drowning, equipment malfunctions, or other accidents cannot be entirely eliminated. I also understand that some club scheduled dives may be beyond my present capabilities and I will not participate in those events without prior training or counseling. It is understood that the Whalers Dive Club only establishes the locations, times, dates, and dive site skill for each dive event, and cannot be held responsible for my safety.

I have fully read and do understand and accept the risk and conditions listed above.
